Information

Please bring:

Your flute, and any other flute you said you'd bring on your booking form.

A music stand, if you have one, labelled with your name. (We have a few you can borrow) .

A packed lunch and drinks. Free tea, coffee and soft drinks will be available, plus snacks from the shop.

There is no need to bring the music emailed to you, we will bring beautifully printed parts for you to use.

Please don't panic if the music enclosed looks a bit tricky, or if there are things you don't understand; there will be plenty of players on each part, so you won't be on your own. Do some practice of any bits that need it, and we will give you lots of help on the day.

If you have been sent an alto or bass part but don't have an instrument (or have never played one), just have a go at it on your own flute for now; during the day you will have plenty of help to make friends with these wonderful flutes. We will also provide any extra percussion or sound effects listed on your music.

Informal Concert

This is a great chance to show friends and family the results of all your hard work, and have fun performing in a friendly and supportive atmosphere. It starts at 5.00pm (free entry). Please help us by providing an audience!

Health and Safety

Please ensure you have no nuts or derivatives from nuts in your packed lunch for the health and safety of those in the group with nut allergies.

Wonderful Winds' Health and Safety policy folder will be available on site at all times and may be viewed upon request. A first aid kit will also be available on site.

No child will be allowed off site during the day and must be collected by an adult unless written permission is received, in advance, to the director Mel Orriss informing them of alternative arrangements.

All children will be supervised throughout the day by registered DBS holders.

We are looking forward to meeting you all and sharing a day of great music-making!

Andrea and Mel
